ENVIRONMENTAL CAUSES, CONSEQUENCES AND REMEDIES

Table 1: Top Eleven most polluted (PM 2.5) cities

ver the years the environmental challenges, especially in the form of pollution, have amplified at global and national levels. At the global level, four types of pollution are quite notable: air, water, soil and Xrays. Since industrial revolution in Europe in 18th century the emission of green house gases has multiplied and this has serious environmental implications. For instance, 250 biggest listed companies of the world account for one third of all man-made green house gas emissions globally. Coal India, Gazprom and Exxon mobil are three top most listed companies for highest CO2 emission and people are using their products without questioning their credentials. To put it more rigorously, these 250 listed companies were expected to cut 3% emission per year to limit temperature as per the goals set by the Paris climate agreement (2015). But actually only 30% of these 250 companies have set goals to cut such emissions (The Times of India, 1 November, 2017). In 2014, Delhi was in the world (2016) S.No. Most polluted (PM 2.5) cities in the world PM 2.5 Zabol (Iran) 217 1 2 Gwalior (India) 176 3 Allahabad (India) 170 4 Riyadh (Saudi Arabia) 156 5 Al Jubail (Saudi Arabia) 152 6 Patna 149 Raipur 144 Bamenda (Cameroon) 132 Xingtai (China) 128 10 Baoding (China) 126 Delhi (India) 122 Source: WHO report 2016 marked by the W.H.O as the most polluted city in the world (annual mean PM 2.5 being 153) and later in 2016 it slightly improved with eleventh rank in the world (annual mean PM 2.5 being 122 micro gram per meter). However, some experts and organisations like Greenpeace question it by pointing out that more data station points (10 in 2016 against 6 in 2014) for monitoring have diluted the earlier result. Further the WHO report of 2016 is based on data (annual average) from 2008-13. Hence if current data are taken into account, Indian cities would perhaps rank worse. Needless to say that 2017 has been worse in terms of air pollution in India on average October 2017 was more polluted than October 2016 - average air quality index for former was 281 against 275 in October 2016. October 2017 had 15 'Very poor' days compared to October 2016 with 5 'very poor' days. However, highest AQI in October 2016 was 445 (on October 31) against the highest AQI in October, 2017 being 403 (on October 20). Anyway eleven most polluted cities in the world (as per WHO 2016) are as per

(Table 1): From these details, it is crystal clear that out of these eleven most polluted cities in the world, five cities are in India: Gwalior, Allahabad, Patna, Raipur, and Delhi. Regarding PM10 level, the highest polluted city in the world was Orvishta (Nigeria) with annual mean of 594 micrograms per cubic meter followed by Peshawar (Pakistan) of 540 microgram per cubic meter. Gwalior with 329 micrograms per cubic metre ranks tenth in the 10 highest PM 10 level cities (and is the only Indian city among top ten highest PM 10 level). In this regard, Delhi ranks 25th position with 229 microgram per cubic metre (annual average). In addition, WHO's 2016 report clearly mentions that urban air pollution levels were lowest in high income countries (Europe, Americas and Western Pacific region); on the other hand, highest urban air pollution levels were experienced in low and middle income countries, especially eastern

A paradigm shift in India's policy regime

The Summit has immense significance as the theme was in sync with India's ongoing policy environment. The Summit was rightly focussed on attracting entrepreneurs and investors and provided a platform for fruitful deliberations that will propel further investments. The topics for this year's summit included healthcare and life sciences; digital economy and financial technology; energy and infrastructure; and media and entertainment. These all are significant issues, relevant to the wellbeing of people and have immense potential to grow and accelerate growth of the nation, going forward. The focus of the government is to attract not only foreign but also domestic investors and entrepreneurs to invest in India and provide employment opportunities to the millions of people of the country.

The industrial policy of India like Make in India is a programme that is aimed at attracting investors from India and abroad. The Global Entrepreneurship Summit was the right platform that re-affirms India's commitment to garnering investments in various sectors of the economy. The investors and entrepreneurs from various parts of the world appreciated the efforts of the government in providing a conducive environment to the businesses to grow and prosper in the country.

The implementation of GST, a landmark reform in the history of Indian economy has made India an attraction to think about it, to discuss about it and to explore it to participate in its incredible growth story. The GST has made India one single unified market which has simplified the taxation regime and facilitated ease of doing business. This is expected to foster entrepreneurial spirit in the country.

These reforms coupled with other reforms such as Jan Dhan Yojna, opening floodgates for FDIs, Swachh Bharat Mission, Digital India, Start up India, MUDRA Yojana, the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code and setting up of National Company Law Tribunal (NCLT) have pushed India's image in international markets. The various economies of the world are looking up to India as a growing emerging economy and are villing to invest in the country.

Further, the Global Entrepreneurship Summit in India become more meaningful and relevant as India's global rankings have improved in the recent times and we are increasingly becoming competitive at global charts. In Global Retail Development Index 2017, India ranked first out of 30 countries replacing China from the first place. In the Logistics Performance Index (LPI), India ranked 35th amongst 160 countries. India ranked at 40th out of 138 countries on Global Competitiveness index 2016. Further, India has ranked 104th out of 149 countries in Prosperity Index and contributed around 20% in global prosperity. India has been titled as 'One of the biggest driver' of global prosperity growth over the past ten years, where millions moved from poverty to prosperity. And most importantly, India has improved significantly by 30 positions in the Ease of Doing Business Index to rank at 100th position which is highly encouraging.

received US $43.47 billion FDI which is the highest in the last seventeen years.

To facilitate the Micro, small and medium enterprises (MSMEs) in the economy, the government has set up the MUDRA Bank with primary objective of developing the micro enterprise sector in the country by extending various supports including financial support in the best practices (Distance to Frontier score). This can be attributed to the mantra of "Reform, Perform, Transform" given by the Hon'ble Prime Minister Shri Narendra Modi, wherein a strong leadership has provided the political will to carry out comprehensive and complex reforms, supported by a bureaucracy committed to perform.

On the basis of analysis of

(Prime Minister Narendra Modi addressing at the Global Entrepreneurship Summit-2017, in Hyderabad on November 28, 2017)

Key Takeaways of the Summit

- GES 2017 participants were truly global, with equal representation from almost all the regions of the world.
- Entrepreneurs represented a diverse range of geographies, industries, business size and scalability.
- Investors and representatives from organizations that support entrepreneurs were hand-picked to accelerate investment, networking and mentoring.
- Special emphasis was placed on empowering young and women entrepreneurs and the role they play in bringing prosperity in the country.
- The Summit also focussed on Digital Economy and Technology, Financial Energy and Infrastructure, Healthcare and lifesciences and Media and Entertainment
- GES included sessions on investing in healthcare startups, low-cost innovations in revolutionizing healthcare and reimagining the future of health.
- Summit The included session on digital economy and financial technology as game changers in payment platforms, transforming to cashless society among others.
- The ses world-class infrastructure was also organized in the Summit
- Summit organized a session on path to moviemaking, creative entrepreneurship, and advancing women's opportunities in the media industry.

The deliberations were in sync with India's policy focus which is a paradigm shift during the last few years. The government now has been announcing significant reform measures in FDI to attract foreign investors in the country which has made India the largest recipient of FDI in the world. In 2016-17, India form of refinance, so as to achieve the goal of "funding the unfunded". MUDRA has been proved a major breakthrough for the entrepreneurship development in India as the scheme has generated self employment opportunities for the 5.5 crore people. The total disbursements have increased significantly from Rs. 1.37 lakh crore in FY16 to Rs. 1.86 lakh crore in FY17. In the current financial year (as per data available till 1.12.2017), loans worth Rs. 117569.17 crores have been sanctioned while loans worth Rs. 112975.09 crores has been disbursed which India's Ease of Doing Business Ranking during the year 2016 and 2017, it is observed that despite there was an improvement in the Distance to Frontier score of India from 53.93 in 2016 to 56.05 in 2017, India's rank remained stagnant at 130th position due to comparative improvements in the rankings of other economies. However, India's doing business ranking in the year 2018 is improved by 30 positions along with significant improvement in the DTF score.

The improvement in the ease of doing rankings of India served as an attractive proposition for shows that the MSMEs are seeking these programmes of the government for the growth of their businesses.

Further, the government has also initiated Start-up India to empower Start-ups to grow through innovations and to accelerate entrepreneurial spirit in the country. Under the initiative the Start-ups can avail income tax exemption for 3 years in a block of 7 years if incorporated after 1st April 2016, 941 schools have been identified for established Tinkering Labs among others. It may be mentioned that the vision of the government to give a thrust to the start-ups is in consonance with the theme of GES 2017 which also focused on providing a platform for start-ups to meet investors who are willing to fund good projects.

All these measures have improved the ease of doing business in India. India is the only country in South Asia and BRICS economies to feature among most improved economies of the Doing Business Report this year. India has improved its rank in 6 out of 10 indicators and has moved closer to international the participants of GES 2017 to come and participate in the Summit as the report shows that the government is working diligently to facilitate ease of doing business which is why many businesses and industry stakeholders participated in the Summit.

Further, the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code is a comprehensive and systemic reform, is the biggest economic reform next to GST and will give a quantum leap to the functioning of the credit market. The law consolidates all the legislations relating to insolvency of companies, which were earlier contained in a number of legislations, into a single legislation. Such consolidation provides greater clarity in law and facilitates the application of consistent and coherent provisions to different stakeholders affected by business failure or inability to pay debt. The implementation of this law has improved our ease of doing business ranking to a greater extent as we have jumped 33 spots from 136th rank last year in resolving insolvency to 103rd in the Doing Business Report 2018 which is highly appreciable.

In addition, the government has recently unveiled a two year roadmap of Rs. 2.11 lakh crore for recapitalization of banking sector in the country. This will facilitate the public sector banks to increase credit flow to MSMEs which will propel growth and create jobs. This has opened floodgates to businesses across the world to come and invest in India provided an interesting opportunities for businesses which participated in GES 2017.

Due to these momentous reform measures, countries such as USA, Japan, China, UK, Canada amongst others are showing great interest in India. Firms from various economies are ready to invest in India and India is slowly becoming a major investment hub. The country has been rated as a bright spot in the global economy as stated by IMF Chief Ms. Christine Lagarde. Recently, Morgan Stanley has also projected that India's GDP will hit USD 6 trillion by 2027 on digital leap.

The reform measures have been strengthening the industrial sector of the economy and various sectors are witnessing growth. This has led to creation of immense opportunities for employment creation for the youth. Further, the reforms have created a conducive environment for Entrepreneurship. This is evident from the improvement in ranking of India by one spot to 68th in Global Entrepreneurship Index 2018 released by the Global Entrepreneurship and Development Institute, Washington, D.C., USA, which was released in the GES 2017.

Various sectors of the economy are emerging as growth drivers of the economy. The Agri and food processing sector, automobile and autocomponents, drugs and pharmaceuticals, handicrafts and handlooms industry, leather and leather products, power, textiles among others provide huge potential to the entrepreneurs and investors to come and invest in India. The Global Entrepreneurship Summit provided an excellent platform to dwell upon identifying opportunities for investing in these growth-driving sectors of the country.

A socio-economic approach

In terms of socio-economic development, women's participation in the workforce has increased in India. Women are now in forefront in various fronts ranging from politics, business to media and entertainment. However, the role of women in workforce participation needs to be strengthened further as there is a significant increase in the number of working women quitting jobs in the country. According to Centre for Monitoring Indian Economy (CMIE), in the first four month of 2017, around 2.4 million women fell off the employment map which is a matter of concern. Further, India slipped 21 spots globally in terms of gender equality and ranked 108th out of 144 countries in the World Economic Forum's (WEF) Global Gender Gap Report 2017. It may be mentioned that India's female workforce participation rate is highest among illiterates and Mediterranean & South East Asia regions, exceeding 5-10 times WHO safe limits.

Unfortunately now-a-days in central Delhi (Lodhi Road and India Gate) one smallest, finest and deadliest pollutant has emerged-PM1 that is 70 times finer than the thickness of a human hair. At Lodhi Road (New Delhi) SAFAR (Ministry of Earth Sciences) recorded in July 2017 average volume of PM 1 during summer, winter and monsoon at 46, 49 and 20 microgram per cubic metre respectively. In 2006 in Delhi particulate matter (PM10) was 153 microgram per cubic metre (annual average) that increased to 214 in 2008 and to 261 in 2010 (due to major construction works for Commonwealth Games) which declined to 222 in 2011 but again peaked to 260 in 2016. In 2017 the air pollution in Delhi, increased eight times plus the good level (upto 50 microgram per m3) in most of Delhi, as is clear from Table 2.

It goes directly into bloodstream causing serious heart problems. WHO has not defined a safe limit for PM 1, though the same for PM 2.5 is 60 micrograms per cubic metre and for PM 10 is 100 micrograms per cubic metre. As per WHO estimate about 3.3 million people die annually in the world form pollution by these particulate

While the government has been taking measures to promote women participation in the economy such as amendments in the maternity benefit act, more measures are needed. The government must also focus on emancipation of women participation in the workforce by incentivising the private sectors, encouraging discussions and deliberations on the equal pay for men and women and creating more awareness about its campaign such as Beti Bachao Beti Padhao.

	Table 3: Major causes of Air Pollution in Delhi
S. No.	Year	Study Source	Main Findings

2	2004	'Atmospheric Environment' journal	a) Over 80% of emissions of major pollutants including particulates, NOX and CO came from vehicles.
3	2008	Central Pollution Control Board & National Environmental Engineering Research Institute (NEERI)	 a) Road dust as the biggest contributer 52.5% to particulate matter in Delhi's Air, industries 22%, vehicles particulate emissions, 6.6%. b) For NOX, industries contribute 79% & Vehicles 18% c) For CO, Vehicles contribute 59% & hydrocarbons 50%
4	2010	SAFAR (Ministry of Earth Sciences)	 a) Most of PM 10 from road dust, vehicular emission not the major sources of air pollution b) Vehicle & industry sources as dominant sources of PM 2.5, followed by construction.
5	2013	'Atmospheric Environment' (Dr. Sarath Guttikunda)	a) Vehicles emission contributed 90% to Nox, 54% to total suspended particulate matter & 33% to SO2
6	2013	Dr. Pramila Goyal (IIT Delhi)	a) Heavy commercial vehicles as major source of particulate matter (92%) followed by two wheelers.
7	2013	UN Environment Program by IIT, Delhi & Dr. Sarath Guttikunda	a) Higher pollution level attributed to exhaust emissions from trucks (passing after 9 PM)
8	2015	IIT, Delhi & IIT Bombay (by Dr Sarath Guttikunda & Rahul Goel)	a) Trucks contribute more than 60% of total vehicle pollutants PM 2.5, CO & SO2 in greater Delhi region

"Further thermal power plants (Badarpur) too contributes substanthally to air pollution in Delhi. However, if we look at the national scene we find that thermal power plants (mainly coal) are a significant source of carbon emission besides vehicles, firewood, burning of solid waste as well as construction works. In total 68% of India's total electricity power comes from thermal power plants(194200 MW), owned by states or centre or private firms/Joint ventures: Maharashtra (28294 MW) has the largest thermal capacity, followed by Gujarat (23160 MW), Chhattisgarh (13234 MW), U.P. (12228 MW), Tamil Nadu (11513 MW), MP(11411 MW), and Rajasthan (10226 MW).

In Delhi air pollution is basically caused by five factors (Times of India, 18 October, 2017) / Dainik Jagran, 6 November, 2017):

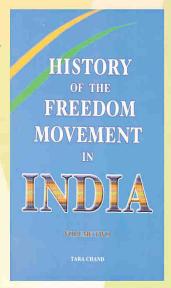

- Emission from coal-fired thermal power plants-13 thermal power plants within 300 km radius of Delhi emit secondary particles contributing 30% of PM 2.5 in winter and 15% in summer.
- There are more than one crore vehicles in Delhi-since 2000 vehicles in Delhi increased by 97%, particulate matter by 75% and NOX by 30%; in winter vehicles contribute 20-25% to particulate matter and 6-9% in summer; in Delhi from vehicles, 217.7 tons of carbon monooxide, 84 tons of NOX, 66.7 tons of hydrocarbon and 0.72 tons of sulpher dioxide are emitted daily and 9.7 tons particulate matter daily; More than half of vehicles in Delhi do not have pollution certificates, there are 50 lakh vehicles on roads in Delhi daily but no adequate staff to check.
- Burning of crops stems (Parali)-Punjab 19.6 million tons, U.P. 21.9 million tons and Haryana 9.1 million tons annually - contributes 140 micrograms per cubic metre PM 10 and 120 microgram per cubic metre PM 2.5; on October 22, 2017, at least 2334 instances of crop stems' burning were recorded by NASA in north India.
- Readymix concrete mixture, used for construction activities, emits a large amount of flyash, accouting for 10% of PM 10 emissions (14.37 tons daily) and 6% of PM 2.5 emissions (3.5 tons daily);
- Dust/smoke from during of municipal waste also adds to particulate matter, especially three land fills at Bhalaswa, Ghazipur and Okhla.

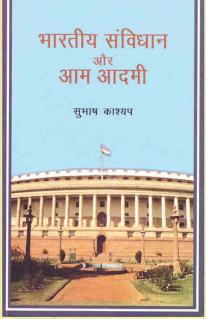

Therefore air quality on 6 and 7 November 2017 deteriorated in Delhi & NCR: PM 2.5 concentration reaching to 1000 micron per cubic metre at Delhi Technological University (against the average of 529), 971 at Sirifort (against average of 333), 976 at Ghaziabad (against the average of 432), 894 at Punjabi Bagh (against the average of 355), 865 at Noida (against average of 353), 862 at Anand Vihar (against average of 309), and 819 at Mandir Marg. (against average of 819), thus 16 to 20 times the normal quality of air.

New studies have found that even kitchens may also be as polluted as outdoor, PM 2.5 emission reaching upto 310 microgram per cubic metre during summer (Pallavi Pant, Times of India, 4 April, 2017). Actually frying and grilling generate ultrafine particles that are quite harmful. Due to use of fossil fuel burning for cooking (3.22 lakh house holds use it) air pollution, especially PM 2.5 level, increases 12% in Delhi (The Hindu, 30 December 2015). In rural areas more than two thirds families use fossil fuel for cooking, light, mosquito-repellance, fertilisers etc. It is a contradiction that only 77% of households don't have electricity connection while 99.5% of villages have been electrified-because a village is considered electrified if 10% of its households have electric connection. Jharkhand, Nagaland, Bihar, U.P, & Assam have highest proportion of households without power. GOI has planned to give power connection to 4.10 crore households without power in rural areas by December 2018. In 2014 electricity consumption in Russia (coldest area) was 6603 KWH per capita against 6353 in Europe, 4229 in South Africa, 3927 in China, 2601 in Brazil and Just 806 in India. Needless to say that per captia consumption of power indicates the degree of industrialistaion and quality of life.
